The landfill operated from 1954-1965. Significant shoreline erosion has occurred, resulting in exposure of landfill refuse at the surface and release of landfill refuse into Bellingham Bay. To prevent people, plants and animals from being exposed to harmful levels of contamination under future use of the site as a waterfront park, the Department of Ecology has selected this project for cleanup pursuant to the Model Toxics Control Act, which will be enforced by a Consent Degree. The City is 75% liable for the costs pursuant to a settlement agreement with the Port of Bellingham.
